

Gastock in trouble

Puppet theatre with much music

Thomas Wiehe

Usually all animals in the forest sing or play their own little tune after having had their drink of fresh morning water. So the princess does. The dragon strongly dislikes this because highly against his will music makes him kind-hearted. Therefore he kidnaps the princess. Our hero Gastock gets assistance from the fairies in his battle against the dragon, which can only be defeated by somebody playing the most beautiful of all instruments ... but which one is it?

Thomas Wiehe has performed with puppet theatre since 1982. This has resulted in 10 productions and some 2000 performances. He has been seen on TV in various series for children.
